

The changing power of Monarchs

This term we will be exploring the changing power of Monarchs. We will also be focusing on the Victorians and will be comparing the periods of time, focusing on similarities and differences.

The first photo is based in the Tudor era, and the second photo is based in the Victorian era.

What do you notice? What is the same? What is different?

^This was Henry VIII.

What do you already know about him?

Key Vocabulary

Monarchy	A monarchy is a type of government that has one person who runs it.
Monarch	The person who runs the monarchy. These are people such as a King or Queen. These people generally reign for life and then a son or daughter becomes the next monarch.
Reign	The time that someone rules.
Tudor	This period of time ran from Henry VII in 1485 until the death of Elizabeth I in 1603.
Henry VIII	Henry the 8 th was the king in the Tudor period and was well known for starting the church of England and for also having 6 wives!
Queen Elizabeth I	Elizabeth I was Queen of England, Ireland and Wales from 1558-1603.
Queen Victoria	Queen Victoria was the Queen from 1837-1901.

