Friday 18th June 2021

Dear Parents and Carers,

On Thursday 24th June 2021, it is national RSE day (Relationships and Sex Education). This year's theme is 'faces'. As a school, we feel that it is important to take part in this day in order to develop and create positive, open conversations about these key areas. When children are comfortable with talking about relationships and sex education, it can have a very positive impact on their life. Good quality conversations about RSE help to keep children safe, improve their communication, increase everyone's understanding of sex and relationships and improve their self-esteem and confidence.

We will be focussing on the areas of respectful relationships, families and those who love me and caring friendships. Each year group has been given a focus activity for them to complete on this day, focussing on creating a safe and positive learning environment, where these topics can be discussed. These activities support our PSHE curriculum at Queensway and we will be focussing on teaching the children about the importance of forming friendships and the qualities of healthy relationships.

Attached are some ideas that you may wish to complete at home with your child. If you have any questions about what your child will be doing on this day, please speak to their class teacher or myself.

Kind regards,

Miss Ross
PSHE Leader
